Presentation skills

What makes a good power point presentation?

Being able to keep the audience's attention by;

- Having a passionate delivery when presenting a topic
- Keeping each slide to a maximum of 2-3 minutes
- Another technique is to present your power point like a 3-stage story e.g., beginning, middle and end.

WORKING MEMORY

- redundancy effects our brain so that we can't retain information, listen and read at the same time.

That's why it is important to keep each slide simple e.g., having a title and image.

Keep it basic and simply

- Short sentences
- Use diagrams if needed

A wooden block with the number 1 on it, set against a dark brown background with white geometric lines.

SIZE MATTERS

- Easy to read
- Clearer to the eye
- Keeps work organized
- Saves space
