

Community Engagement

Table of Contents

INTRODUCTION	3
MAIN BODY.....	3
Gibbs Model.....	3
CONCLUSION/.....	7
REFERENCES	8

INTRODUCTION

Community participation can be described as a philosophy that encourages collective work by individuals, organisations, and teams in order to foster potential solutions to societal issues and problems while also promoting the well-being of those involved. It is a mechanism in which an organisation, a group of individuals, or some other kind of team comes together to collaborate for the betterment of society by formulating and implementing policies or campaigns that will improve society's current level. The development and implementation of a group involvement proposal or initiative will assist a business organisation in improving customer satisfaction. The primary goal of community engagement is to make a positive contribution to the culture and community in which the company operates and performs its functions. The proposed reflective study would include information about the experience and understanding I gained through the "Community Engagement in global giving charity" project. It is not for profit organisation that provides solution to the problems that are faced by the clients. It aids in the development of improved networking, teamwork, communication, problem-solving ability, and interaction skills.

MAIN BODY

Gibbs Model

The Gibbs Model is a reflective model that helps people to display their learning experiences in a formal and intentional way. Individuals should use the Gibbs model to offer deep perspectives into each stage in a comprehensive manner and to portray their learning experience in an engaging and fitting manner. Gibbs model of reflection was chosen to represent my learning experience because it is more accurate and applicable to the requirements of the proposed reflective study. The Gibbs Model's various phases are as follows: -

Description

I was given an assignment titled "Public Engagement on Charity Businesses," in which I had to describe the current community engagement activities in the charity industry. I had to figure out the different aspects and characteristics of group involvement, as well as how they support the market and social engagement of the respective businesses or organisations in the field. The project enabled me to state that community involvement is one of the most important and promising components that can assist a charity company in increasing their social interaction in society. It also gave me the opportunity to consider the various practises used by the companies to streamline their community involvement efforts. It was a fascinating subject that allowed me to learn and study various businesses and how they adapt and integrate community involvement variables into their operations. The aim of the project was to improve my understanding and gain a comprehensive overview of the practises used by leading organisations in the charity, such as the Global giving. The key goal of the study was to see how group involvement affected business companies and their activities.

Feeling

During the early stages of the project, I was concerned about whether or not I would be able to live up to the project's proposed title. However, as I became more familiar with the philosophy of community involvement and the methods used by numerous business establishments in the charity industry, I gained sufficient interest in my writing. I have had to work through a lot of stress in order to follow the project's schedule and deadline. I firmly believe that in order to complete a project in an accurate and trustworthy way, a person must have complete trust and faith in their work. It also gave me the opportunity to consider the various practises used by the companies to streamline their community involvement efforts. It was a fascinating subject that allowed me to learn and study various businesses and how they adapt and integrate community involvement variables into their operations. The aim of the project was to improve my understanding and gain a comprehensive overview of the practises used by leading organisations in the charity industry, such as the Global giving Charity. The key goal of the study was to see how group involvement affected business companies and their activities. Overall, I had a great time working on the project because it allowed me to develop my self-confidence and flexibility when working on such broad and industry-specific topics that allowed me to test my knowledge across several dimensions.

Evaluation

The best part of working on this project was the ability to learn too much about the community engagement process in different charity organisations. The task also assisted me in producing high-quality work within the specified time frame. The idea that I was initially reluctant and uncertain about the challenge, but that working on it helped me build trust and belief in myself over time was really exciting for me as a learner. When working on the project, my morale was impeccable and amazing in nature. When facilitating the concerned project study on neighbourhood engagement, my work ethics have improved. The execution of the study can be explained by the fact that I only used authentic sources and evidence, and I did not rely on any ambiguous information. One thing that did not go well for me and in which I had a lot of difficulty was handling my time. I've always been a total procrastinator, and this trait has had an influence on my job in the past. Even during this particular task, I began to run out of time, and there was some previous analysis that needed to be completed in order to form the basis for the project report's derivations. Still I didn't give up hope and gave it my all to finish the project on time and submit it without delay.

Analysis

The fact that the project's topic was in one of my priority areas may be a contributing factor in the project's successful execution and accomplishment of all of the project's goals and criteria. I channelled my power into it in order to get the greatest possible result from my tireless efforts and unwavering commitment. I am very pleased that I used time management methods such as creating a time table and incorporating a goal set strategy to help me finish my job on time and without any unwanted interruptions or delays. In order to write a knowledgeable and relevant project study, I agree that being assertive and having relevant information about the atmosphere in which one is doing the project research is critical. I centred on the community involvement activities governed by the Global giving organisation in relation to the charity industry's community engagement activities. The former provided me with the requisite assistance in obtaining appropriate details regarding its global business operations. The fact that the project's topic was in one of my priority areas may be a contributing factor in the project's successful execution and accomplishment of all of the project's goals and criteria. I channelled my power into it in order to get the greatest possible result from my tireless efforts and unwavering commitment. I am very pleased that I used time management methods such as creating a time table and incorporating a goal set strategy to help me finish my job on time and without any unwanted interruptions or delays.

Conclusion

The planned community participation initiative allowed me to learn about the quality involvement of individuals in their respective industries in community activities led by charity companies. It also provided me with important insights into the role of sustainable growth as well as the protection of natural resources such as the ocean and other types of natural bodies in order to improve the quality of living in society. Working on the assigned project has helped me realise that group engagement is a large term. There are different factors which can help charity companies thrive and sustain successfully in the consumer climate in the business environment. I assume that I have done justice to my job and have performed best in the creation of the project study. I often think that as students, we must constantly test ourselves and immerse ourselves in opportunities of a very contradictory and difficult nature to enable our best versions to shine out and to produce greater outcomes and results for ourselves. It can be seen that I have taken the best out of this specific project. In order to draw the inference relevant to the project and attain the learning results associated with the same in an accurate and convincing manner, I was able to use any kind of prominent abilities, such as leadership skills, critical thinking capacity, problem-solving ability, and so on.

Action Plan

Defining and drawing up of a forward and knowledgeable action plan is essential to ensure that I can do it better and with great performance and strategy optimization, in order to have an ability to do something that is linked to the current form of project. I may guarantee this with confidence that I would be more sincere in regard to time management if I am to be involved in a similar type of project in the future. In order to reach my project objectives and finish the project quickly within the fixed period of time given by the professors with productivity and efficiency, I will ensure that I follow a systemic schedule. There are different factors which can help charity companies thrive and sustain successfully in the consumer climate in the business environment. I assume that I have done justice to my job and have performed best in the creation of the project study. I often think that as students, we must constantly test ourselves and immerse ourselves in opportunities of a very contradictory and difficult nature to enable our best versions to shine out and to produce greater outcomes and results for ourselves. It can be seen that I have taken the best out of this specific project.

I'd make sure I'm inspired enough in the beginning of my project to create a stable foundation of content rather than having irrational decisions and being swayed by the question of whether the content is appealing or not. I'm going to trust my intuition and act in line with them. The relevant practise will assist me in laying a solid basis for the project and leading it in a constructive and significant manner. Overall, I would guarantee that I can benefit from the small errors I made during the course of this project's implementation and strive not to replicate them in the future. The respective philosophy will contribute to my growth as a learner and excellence in the next chance that awaits my personal and professional future.

CONCLUSION

It can be inferred from the discussions above that I have had an incredibly enriching experience of working on the project in question. I am a university enthusiast and am glad to discover some different approaches to facilitate research in an industry and genuinely integrate it into the project. I am very happy and thankful for the support my teachers have given me through the whole project and the chance to write a reflection on my ideas and feelings about the incredible experience during the project

REFERENCES

Books and Journals

- Ramlal, A. and Augustin, D.S., 2020. Engaging students in reflective writing: an action research project. Educational Action Research, 28(3), pp.518-533.
- Robbins, M.M., Onodipe, G. and Marks, A., 2020. Reflective Writing and Self-Regulated Learning in Multidisciplinary Flipped Classrooms. Journal of the Scholarship of Teaching & Learning, 20(3).
- Tilakaratna, N. and Szenes, E., 2020. Uncovering disciplinary values in Social Work and Business reflective writing assignments. Building Knowledge in Higher Education: Enhancing Teaching and Learning with Legitimation Code Theory.
- Tote, D. and Rawekar, A., 2020. Perception Regarding Narrative and Reflective Writing among Fellowship Candidates. Journal of Clinical & Diagnostic Research, 14(2).
- Williams, K., Woolliams, M. and Spiro, J., 2020. Reflective writing. Red Globe Press.