

FRANCESCA TUNO, ASS.2, CSPH7037.

first marker's mark: 56

NB. All marks are provisional until confirmed by the Final Examination Board
This essays contains relevant facts, ideas & arguments, & it is clear that you have conscientiously tried to grapple with the essay question. But details are not always accurate, and while there's an attempt at critical examination, your objections read like a series of questions, with insufficient analysis and argument. Try to avoid posing questions unless you are prepared to answer them. I advise to undertake further
For completion by Marker 1:
Comments:	RMJ
Marker 1 signature:	Secondary reading; this
Date:
For completion by Marker 2 / Moderator:	could enable you to provide a more in-depth critical analysis of the issues at stake. I realise that you reference Sandel but, in relation to your analysis, note that he argues that the self cannot be 'prior' to its ends, that 'unencumbered selves' (ie, beings lacking desires, purposes, a history etc) cannot be true persons. A more in-depth reading of Sandel (& of other authors) could enable you to recognise the full potential of your sources.
Comments:
Marker 2 / Moderator signature:
Date:
External Examiner's comments (if relevant):
External Examiner signature:
Date:	