Module Learning Outcomes (from module syllabus)

Upon the successful completion of this module, the student should be able to:

- Demonstrate intellectual skills in the identification of an appropriate topic, problem or challenge for investigation pertinent to their field of study and formulate a suitable plan for further research utilising relevant investigative methods in order to produce a response.
- Evidence in-depth knowledge and critical understanding of principles necessary to underpin their education within their chosen field of study and problem-solving techniques applicable to this.
- Evidence independence of thought and critical evaluation in the production of an independent piece of work, demonstrating transferable skills through exercising initiative and personal responsibility in planning own learning and self-management.
- Organise their knowledge and learning through use of a range of media and present their work appropriately in a manner that can be understood by specialist and non-specialist audiences.

TASK DESCRIPTION

This is an independent REWORK of your Independent Project and will be capped at 40%.

You will rework your original Portfolio and Presentation and not create a new Project.

Your Portfolio Project must have three elements to it.
You will have one mark in total.

Element 1 - 30% of Module Mark Research and Investigation

Research and Investigate a subject or idea through which you can demonstrate the core skills of your BA Acting or Design and Production course. This can also include an exploration of transferable vocational skills as well as any wider discoveries or interests that are relevant and applicable. The output and subject area is to be discussed and agreed with your tutor.

Element 2 - 30% of Module Mark Development, Collaboration and Application

From your research and investigative foundation you must develop, combine, collaborate and explore your ideas in order to demonstrate the practical application of your skillset. This will take the form of a process of exploration where you will collaborate with others to combine and develop ideas and research discoveries in order to fully realise your project.

Element 3 - 40% of Module Mark Practical Presentation

Record your 10 minute presentation showcasing the highlights of your investigation and experimentation process. The finished work must be exhibited/presented appropriately within the expectations of the project's discipline.

ASSESSMENT:

Your 10 min Presentation will be recorded by you via an online platform (Zoom or Teams) where you can, if you wish, use PowerPoint or other presenting tools to organise your thoughts and ideas. You will then send your recorded presentation to lynne.seymour@uwtsd.ac.uk via WeTransfer.

The deadline for emailing your presentation is 11:00am Tuesday 18th July 2023.

Your 6,000-8,000 word Portfolio will be submitted via the INDEPENDENT PROJECT REWORK Turnitin portal under the ACTING course tab on the Independent Project MOODLE page.

The deadline for your Portfolio to be submitted to Turnitin is 11:30am Tuesday 18th July 2023

GUIDANCE FOR STUDENTS IN THE COMPLETION OF TASKS

NOTE: The guidance offered below is linked to the five generic assessment criteria overleaf.

1. Engagement with Literature Skills

Your work must be informed and supported by scholarly material that is relevant to and focused on the task(s) set; you should make use of scholarly reviews and primary sources, where appropriate (for example, refereed research articles and/or original materials appropriate to the discipline). You should provide evidence that you have accessed a wide range of sources, which may be academic, governmental and industrial; these sources may include academic journal articles, textbooks, current news articles, organisational documents, and websites. You should consider the credibility of your sources; academic journals are normally highly credible sources while websites require careful consideration/selection and should be used sparingly. Any sources you use should be current and up-to-date, mostly published within the last five years or so, though seminal/important works in the field may be older. You must provide evidence of your research/own reading throughout your work, using a suitable referencing system, including in-text citations in the main body of your work and a reference list at the end of your work.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

- 1: Demonstrate your research and knowledge in your portfolio and your practical presentation.
- 2: Demonstrate intellectual skills in your choice and research of your chosen field of study.
- 3: Independently and creatively explore further research utilising relevant investigative methods in order to produce a response.

2. Knowledge and Understanding Skills

At level 6, you should be able to demonstrate coherent and detailed knowledge and a systematic understanding of the subject area, at least some of which is informed by the latest research and/or advanced scholarship within the discipline. You should be aware of the uncertainty, ambiguity and limits of knowledge. Your work must demonstrate the growing extent of your knowledge and systematic understanding of concepts and underlying principles associated with the subject area. Knowledge relates to the facts, information and skills you have acquired through your learning. You demonstrate your understanding by interpreting the meaning of the facts and information (knowledge). This means that you need to select and include in your work the concepts, techniques, models, theories, etc. appropriate to the task(s) set. You should be able to explain the theories, concepts, etc. meaningfully to show your understanding. Your mark/grade will also depend upon the extent to which you demonstrate your knowledge and understanding; ideally each should be complete and detailed, with comprehensive coverage.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

- 1: Utilise knowledge and skills from your research and previous modules to create, innovate and develop your independent project brief.
- 2: Demonstrate your development of knowledge and understanding of your particular area of study in your practical tasks.

3: Utilise independence of thought and critical evaluation in the production of an independent piece of work.

3. Cognitive and Intellectual Skills

You should be able to: critically evaluate evidence, arguments, assumptions, abstract concepts and data some of which are at the forefront of a discipline (and that may be incomplete) to devise and sustain arguments, to make judgements and/or solve problems; describe and comment upon particular aspects of current research, or equivalent advanced scholarship, in the discipline Your work must contain evidence of logical, analytical thinking, evaluation and synthesis. For example, to examine and break information down into parts, make inferences, compile, compare and contrast information. This means not just describing what! But also justifying: Why? How? When? Who? Where? At what cost? At all times, you must provide justification for your arguments and judgements. Evidence that you have reflected upon the ideas of others within the subject area is crucial to you providing a reasoned and informed debate within your work. Furthermore, you should provide evidence that you are able to make sound judgements and convincing arguments using data and concepts. Sound, valid conclusions are necessary and must be derived from the content of your work. Where relevant, alternative solutions and recommendations may be proposed.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

- 1: Demonstrate your ability to synthesise and develop ideas independently and collaboratively.
- 2: Demonstrate your ability to use your research effectively and appropriately.
- 3: Effectively utilise your research to underpin the development of your chosen field of study.

4. Practical Skills

At level 6, you should be able to apply the methods and techniques that you have learned to review, consolidate, extend and apply your knowledge and understanding, and to initiate and carry out projects. You will deploy accurately established techniques of analysis and enquiry relevant to the discipline, and apply them in complex and unpredictable contexts, to devise and sustain arguments and/or to solve problems. You should be able to frame appropriate questions to achieve a solution - or identify a range of solutions. You should be able to demonstrate how the subject-related concepts and ideas relate to real world situations and/or a particular context. How do they work in practice? You will deploy models, methods, techniques, and/or theories, in that context or circumstances, to assess current situations, perhaps to formulate plans or solutions to solve problems, or to create artefacts, some of which may be innovative and creative. This is likely to involve, for instance, the use of real world artefacts, examples and cases, the application of a model within an organisation and/or benchmarking one theory or organisation against others based on stated criteria. You should show awareness of the limitations of concepts and theories when applied in particular contexts.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

- 1: Demonstrate your ability to deploy a wide range of methods and techniques to engage creatively and practically with your chosen project.
- 2: Demonstrate a high degree of practical skills to innovate and create materials for presentation.
- 3: Demonstrate a high degree of initiative and personal responsibility in managing your project.

5. Transferable Skills for Life and Professional Practice

Your work must provide evidence of the qualities and transferable skills necessary for graduate-level employment requiring the exercise of initiative and personal responsibility and decision-making in complex and unpredictable circumstances. This includes demonstrating: the learning ability for professional development to advance existing skills and acquire new competences of a professional nature that will enable you to assume significant responsibility within organisations; that you can initiate and complete tasks and procedures, whether individually and/or collaboratively; that you can use appropriate media to effectively communicate information, arguments and analysis in a variety of forms to specialist and non-specialist audiences; fluency of expression; clarity and effectiveness in presentation and organisation. Work should be coherent and well-structured in presentation and organisation.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

- 1: Demonstrate a high degree of personal responsibility in planning own learning, collaboration and time management.
- 2: Demonstrate a high degree of ability to initiate and complete tasks within the professional guidelines of your area study.
- 3: Effectively organise your knowledge and learning and present your work appropriately in a manner that can be understood by specialist and non-specialist audiences.
