- ⌘ The Digital Library searches for library books, e-books, online journal articles and other resources. It's good as a 'one stop shop', or if you're looking for a specific journal article
- ⌘ The databases offer more refined searching, so you'll probably need to use them to find the most relevant information. The database Education Source is a good one to start with. You might also find Science Direct and Academic Search Premier useful.
