

RECOGNITION OF PRIOR EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING (RPEL) APPLICATION FORM

TO BE COMPLETED BY THE APPLICANT

Before completing this section, please ensure that you read the guidance notes located on the Moodle page 'PL3b Recognition of Prior Experimental Learning' at:

<https://moodle.uwtsd.ac.uk/course/view.php?id=8602>

For claims relating to Specific Credit, please provide details of the prior experiential learning with explicit reference to how the learning outcomes of each module for which credit is claimed have been met (see the RPL Policy for further details).

For claims relating to General Credit, please provide a summary of the portfolio of evidence and reflective essay evaluating the learning that has been achieved (see the RPL Policy for further details).

Notes for applicants on how to complete Section 3 of the PL3b application form.

1. Use the learning outcomes from your module descriptor as sub-headings for this section.
2. Use examples to illustrate your experiential learning.
3. Identify a minimum of 2 academic references per learning outcome.
4. Reflection

When preparing this section, individuals need to adopt a reflective model such as Driscoll (2007)

Consider the following questions and provide a response as part of your PL3b narrative for section 3.

What: Describing the Experience

- What specific experience or situation are you reflecting on?
- What were the key actions, events, or observations during this experience?
- What were your initial expectations or assumptions going into this situation?
- What were the main challenges or successes you encountered?

So What: Analysing and Making Meaning

- Why was this experience important or significant to you?
- What did you learn from this experience about yourself, others, or the context?
- So what connections can you draw between this experience and your previous knowledge or experiences?
- What emotions, thoughts, or insights emerged during or after the experience?

Now What: Considering Future Actions

- Based on your analysis, what are the implications for your future actions or decisions?
- Now what changes or adjustments would you make if faced with a similar situation in the future?
- What new perspectives or strategies have you gained that can be applied in other contexts?
- How can you use this learning experience to inform your personal or professional development?
