

What are my big goals	Which smaller goals need to happen first?	When do I want to achieve this?	Why is this my goal?	What obstacles might get in my way?
Getting my driver's license and a car	• Booking driving lessons • Getting a job/internship to save up for lessons and the car	By the end of 2023	☐ Having a driver's license will help me both in my personal life and professional life ☐ Travelling back home in England and to Wales will be easier ☐ Will open more opportunities for set design as it is something employers' value. For example, I would be able to help transport set pieces or travel to locations with no problems of train strikes.	• Finance is a big obstacle in this goal, I have always struggled with sensible spending, however I have already saved up some money for the driving lessons and I'm spending less money on things I don't really need • Finding time for both a job and driving lessons whilst staying on top of my university work will be difficult, however with proper time management I think it will be doable
Trip to Berlin	• Learn German	Next 5 years	• I see Germany as a country of creativity, from movements like Bauhaus and the incredible fashion culture there • Fashion is very important to me and I feel that experiencing and seeing the fashion in Berlin would be an amazing experience • If I could also participate in a project or do a semester studying abroad in Germany it would be an amazing opportunity and I will definitely be asking if it's possible	• Money will be a problem as travelling is expensive with flights and staying at a hotel • Preferably I would want to travel alone so finding some to go with me could be a problem
Participate in a project about my culture	• Re-learning how to write and read in Polish • Visiting Poland after not going for years	Next 10 years	• As a foreigner who moved to the UK at a young age, I feel as though I have lost touch with my culture and it's something that I really want to focus on • Your culture and life passions are very important to who you are as a person, I feel that reconnecting with my culture in a creative setting will allow me to develop as an artist and as a person.	• My personal feeling and grudges • Money could be an obstacle as I might need to travel to Poland etc. • Re-learning how to write and read will be a challenge however I think with the help of my family I'll be able to learn it in a supportive environment
Apply for an opportunity outside of my comfort zone	• Research internship opportunities within university	End of 2023	• I have always stuck to things that I am comfortable with, for example I applied for a graphic design internship because I knew that if I did get it, I would already have all the skills because of my previous experiences • This is inspired by my teacher Dave, who told us to "say yes, then worry about it later" when it comes to opportunities within our courses field of work.	• Lack of motivation could be a problem as I tend to easily lose focus and am unmotivated if I find a task or situation difficult, however being at university I have learnt many new skills that I wasn't good at when I first started and learnt that just because I'm not good at something from the start it doesn't mean that I will never be good at it