Portfolio of evidence (4 entries)

Students will be required to submit an electronic portfolio that evidences engagement with professional teaching experience over the duration of the programme comprising of the following elements

1. Introduction to the teaching experience setting (approximately 500 words)

This should provide an outline to the setting in which the professional teaching experience was conducted. It should detail the type of setting, the subject areas taught as well as the cohort. If more than one teaching experience placement has been undertaken then please ensure that all settings are evidenced.

2. Practical teaching experience evidence

This should be an accumulation of the necessary evidence to support engagement with the practical teaching experience element of the programme to include:

- Record of teaching hours authenticated by mentor/placement setting (100 teaching hours in total with 10% allowance for administrative duties)
- Teaching observation forms and all associated documentation (lesson plans, copies of slides etc) for formally observed lessons (6 lessons in total)

- c) Lesson plans and associated documentation for a further 8 lessons delivered by the trainee.
- d) Record of any professional development activities such as conferences attended, training provided, enhancement activities undertaken etc. These can either be provided by your placement setting, your PCET programme team or as a result of self-direction i.e. undertaking an online class or course for example.
- e) Mentor meeting forms (where relevant)
- f) Professionally focused CV

3. Reflective evaluation of overall experience (2000 words)

Your reflective evaluation should relate specifically to your teaching practice and incorporate suitable reflections on the aspects included under element 2 of the portfolio, namely your practical teaching experience evidence. You should critically reflect on the breadth and depth of the teaching experience undertaken as well as the feedback received through any formally observed sessions as well as any mentor feedback that may be available. You should also consider any professional development activities undertaken and how they have contributed to your development as a practitioner.

4. Action plan for future professional development (1500 words)

This action plan should summarise clearly the steps required in order for you to develop further as a PCET practitioner and the requisite steps needed along with a timeframe for completion of the actions identified. The action plan should be clearly linked to relevant professional standards and include feedback received throughout the programme from teaching observations and assignments.

As this is an electronic portfolio, your programme team will be able to offer specific guidance on the preferred method for compiling this. It is highly recommended that your portfolio is seen as a 'work in progress' throughout your studies on the course and that you ensure that it is appropriately populated and reviewed on a regular basis and not just at the end of the programme of study. Please note that you are responsible for ensuring that all evidence is included and complete and that you exercise appropriately personal responsibility for the maintenance of your professional teaching experience evidence.

GUIDANCE FOR STUDENTS IN THE COMPLETION OF TASKS

NOTE: The guidance offered below is linked to the five generic assessment criteria overleaf.

1. Engagement with Literature Skills

Your work must be informed and supported by scholarly material that is relevant to and focused on the task(s) set; you should make use of scholarly reviews and primary sources, where appropriate (for example, refereed research articles and/or original materials appropriate to the discipline). You should provide evidence that you have accessed a wide range of sources, which may be academic, governmental and industrial; these sources may include academic journal articles, textbooks, current news articles, organisational documents, and websites. You should consider the credibility of your sources; academic journals are normally highly credible sources while websites require careful consideration/selection and should be used sparingly. Any sources you use should be current and up-to-date, mostly published within the last five years or so, though seminal/important works in the field may be older. You must provide evidence of your research/own reading throughout your work, using a suitable referencing system, including in-text citations in the main body of your work and a reference list at the end of your work.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

Students will need to demonstrate engagement with appropriate reading throughout in respect of the reflective evaluation as well as drawing upon appropriate professional standards in relation to the action plan. UWTSD Harvard referencing format should be used throughout.

2. Knowledge and Understanding Skills

At level 6, you should be able to demonstrate coherent and detailed knowledge and a systematic understanding of the subject area, at least some of which is informed by the latest research and/or advanced scholarship within the discipline. You should be aware of the uncertainty, ambiguity and limits of knowledge. Your work must demonstrate the growing extent of your knowledge and systematic understanding of concepts and underlying principles associated with the subject area. Knowledge relates to the facts, information and skills you have acquired through your learning. You demonstrate your understanding by interpreting the meaning of the facts and information (knowledge). This means that you need to select and include in your work the concepts, techniques, models, theories, etc. appropriate to the task(s) set. You should be able to explain the theories, concepts, etc. meaningfully to show your understanding. Your mark/grade will also depend upon the extent to which you demonstrate your knowledge and understanding; ideally each should be complete and detailed, with comprehensive coverage.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

Students will need to show a knowledge of key aspects of learning and teaching with the PCET sector and be able to articulate these effectively within their writing. This knowledge and understanding should be evident within the professional practice undertaken as well as the reflective writing undertaken. An understanding of what constitutes good practice and why should be clearly evidenced throughout.

3. Cognitive and Intellectual Skills

You should be able to: critically evaluate evidence, arguments, assumptions, abstract concepts and data some of which are at the forefront of a discipline (and that may be incomplete) to devise and sustain arguments, to make judgements and/or solve problems; describe and comment upon particular aspects of current research, or equivalent advanced scholarship, in the discipline. Your work must contain evidence of logical, analytical thinking, evaluation and synthesis. For example, to examine and break information down into parts, make inferences, compile, compare and contrast information. This means not just describing what! But also justifying: Why? How? When? Who? Where? At what cost? At all times, you must provide justification for your arguments and judgements. Evidence that you have reflected upon the ideas of others within the subject area is crucial to you providing a reasoned and informed debate within your work. Furthermore, you should provide evidence that you are able to make sound judgements and convincing arguments using data and concepts. Sound, valid conclusions are necessary and must be derived from the content of your work. Where relevant, alternative solutions and recommendations may be proposed.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

There should be clear reflections provided as to own professional development and a sound academic critique of the process provided. The reflective process should clearly evaluate and engage with the evidence provided in respect of the professional teaching experience undertaken and conclusions drawn from this as to own learning and skills development. Appropriate engagement with professional standards should be evidenced.

4. Practical Skills

At level 6, you should be able to apply the methods and techniques that you have learned to review, consolidate, extend and apply your knowledge and understanding, and to initiate and carry out projects. You will deploy accurately established techniques of analysis and enquiry relevant to the discipline, and apply them in complex and unpredictable contexts, to devise and sustain arguments and/or to solve problems. You should be able to frame appropriate questions to achieve a solution - or identify a range of solutions. You should be able to demonstrate how the subject-related concepts and ideas relate to real world situations and/or a particular context. How do they work in practice? You will deploy models, methods, techniques, and/or theories, in that context or circumstances, to assess current situations, perhaps to formulate plans or solutions to solve problems, or to create artefacts, some of which may be innovative and creative. This is likely to involve, for instance, the use of real world artefacts, examples and cases, the application of a model within an organisation and/or benchmarking one theory or organisation against others based on stated criteria. You should show awareness of the limitations of concepts and theories when applied in particular contexts.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

Students will need to have completed all elements of the portfolio and have produced a clear action plan for future professional development as a consequence of engaging with this. The action plan should be developmental in nature and outline logical and achievable aims and provide a sound timeframe for completion. Action plan should be clearly aligned to relevant professional standards.

5. Transferable Skills for Life and Professional Practice

Your work must provide evidence of the qualities and transferable skills necessary for graduate-level employment requiring the exercise of initiative and personal responsibility and decision-making in complex and unpredictable circumstances. This includes demonstrating: the learning ability for professional development to advance existing skills and acquire new competences of a professional nature that will enable you to assume significant responsibility within organisations; that you can initiate and complete tasks and procedures, whether individually and/or collaboratively; that you can use appropriate media to effectively communicate information, arguments and analysis in a variety of forms to specialist and non-specialist audiences; fluency of expression; clarity and effectiveness in presentation and organisation. Work should be coherent and well-structured in presentation and organisation.

Guidance specific to this assessment:

Completion of work in accordance with UWTSD guidelines on the submission of assessments.
