

TechFit Studio TechFit Studio mixes VR headsets with regular gym gear to turn workouts into fun adventures. Members get subscription access to things like virtual mountain hikes, AI boxing fights, or beach yoga in far-off places. Stations have VR, motion sensors, and equipment that auto-adjusts to your level, plus an AI coach that builds custom plans from your progress. It's for people who hate boring gym routines and want exercise that actually feels exciting and keeps them coming back.

GreenGrocer Direct GreenGrocer Direct delivers fresh, local organic produce straight from nearby farms to city folks via weekly boxes and an app. You pick what goes in your box, see farm stories, get matching recipes, and track how much CO2 you save by going local. We include cheaper "ugly" veggies to cut waste. By skipping middlemen and using smart routes, farmers get paid better and you get affordable, super-fresh food. Perfect for busy families who want healthy eating without the hassle.

ElderEase Connect ElderEase Connect is a simple app and tablet setup that lets adult kids help care for aging parents from anywhere. It has reminders for meds, video doctor visits, daily check-ins, emergency alerts, plus connections to local help for errands, rides, or just company. There are fun brain games, ways to chat with family/friends, and links to wearables for health tracking. Plans range from basic alerts to full coordination. It's for families who want their parents to stay independent and safe at home.
