Comments: - Your answer to the first question is well presented, although there is some confusion with regards to the argument from marginal cases. But you provide a very detailed answer, drawing on the work of Midgley to do so - Again, your answer to the second question is well thought out & reveals an excellent grasp of the topic. It would have been beneficial to have further discussed which normative stance one should adopt in relation to sustainable policies & practices (you do provide some discussion of this, but it's brought it at the end in a rather rushed manner).
