

Here are some drama ideas from the Irish Drama Curriculum - These are tasters - for more detail see the document on moodle.

As a guide the Irish system has 'classes' that correspond to Welsh KS2 year groups as follows.

2nd class – Year 3 3rd class - Year 4 4th class - Year 5 5th class - Year 6 focus on helping to solve the mathematical problems the gatekeeper sets how can we help the peacock who has lost the ability to spread his tail?

the capital letters and small letters are arguing with each other but have to bury their differences when they hear there is a computer coming who wants to make them his/her slaves in a drama about a family situation, experience the anger and frustration arising from a conflict over changing the television channel.

work out from the map the meaning of the riddle that will lead him/her to where the UFO has landed follow the leader in hauling weapons along a narrow mountain pass help the other children to teach the spacewoman how to treat the flowers through a drama about a child whose parents never let him/her do what he/she wants to do, explore and ask questions about freedom and responsibility if one were to make a soap-opera about the school, enact with others a small group scene that would best encapsulate the school small groups depict people reactions at moments of great change in history from a map supplied by the teacher, decide how best to get to the house of the friendship-maker when, on an upturned boat, food rations are running out, decide as a member of the group whether to eat now and hope the group is rescued or to ration the food to make it last longer
