

Filial piety and propriety (禮) are based on respect

- Module Code: SICH 4001
- Module Tutor: Yue Li
- Student Name: Peilin Zhuang (1800069)
- Due Date: 19th Nov. 2020

Outline

1

introduction

2

the core of
filial piety

3

the core of
propriety

4

Summary

The image features a minimalist design on a light beige background. A large, faint set of concentric circles is centered on the left side. Overlapping this is a smaller, solid white circle. Inside this white circle, the word "ONE" is written in a large, bold, dark grey sans-serif font. Below "ONE", the word "introduction" is written in a smaller, dark grey sans-serif font. Two small, solid black dots are positioned on the left and right edges of the white circle, each aligned with a smaller set of concentric circles that appear to be partially cut off by the white circle's edge.

ONE

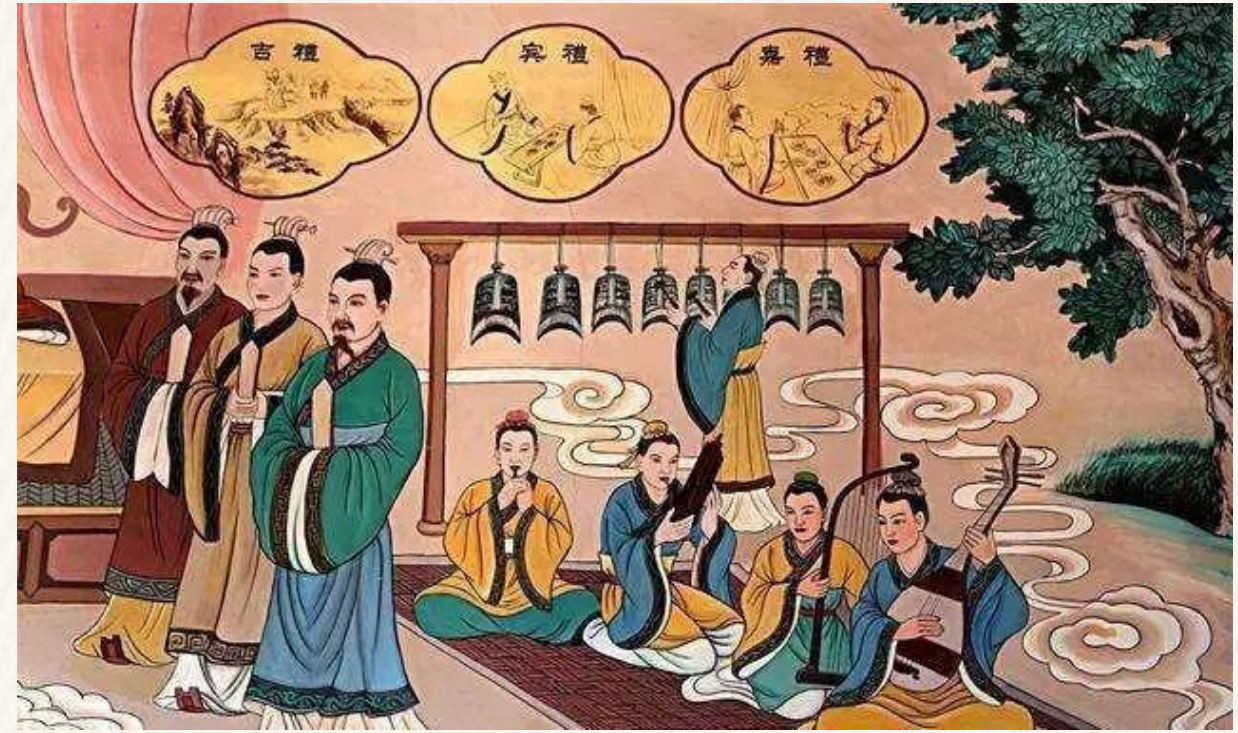

introduction

Being filial to parents is one of Chinese traditional virtues

Chinese culture
with rites and music
as the core

made rites and music

TWO

Respect is the core of filial
piety

出必告 反必面

before you leave home,
you should tell your parents about your
leaving. As soon as you come back home, you
must report to them
about your returning
home

Among all things in the world, human beings are the most precious. No human behavior is more important than filial piety.

filial piety

If a person does not love his parents but love others, it is against the virtue of life; if he does not respect his parents and elders but respects others, he violates the rules of conduct. In this world, parents are the most grateful to us. If we do not love or respect our parents and respect others, then you must have a plot. This respect is also hypocritical.

Filial piety and respect are the most important root of traditional Chinese culture

three

Respect is the core of
etiquette

essence of propriety is respect

Whenever we injure our body, our parents
feel grief and alarm

The Essentials of Courtesy state that If someone older gives you a gift, receive it respectfully with both hands

FOUR

Summary

filial piety is the root of all
virtues and the source of all good deeds.

etiquette is a code
of conduct

Bibliography

Books (Chinese)

Li Yuxiu 李毓秀, Standards for Being a Good Student and Child 弟子规 (Henan people's Publishing House 2007)

Zeng zi 曾子, The Book of Filial Piety 孝经 (the edition published by Zhonghua Book Company 2017)

Professor Li Bing-nan 李炳南, Daily Manners: The Essentials of Courtesy (Tuanjie Publishing House 2018)

Books (English)

Gu Hongming 辜鴻銘, trans., The Discourses and Sayings of Confucius, in Gu Hongming Wenji 辜鴻銘文集 (Hainan: Hainan chubanshe, 2000), p.355.

websites(Chinese)

Master Chin Kung, http://www.dizigui.cn/fx_ljs_140503.asp, [accessed 17 April 2020]

Zheng Xuan 鄭玄, <https://ctext.org/library.pl?if=gb&file=80187&page=74> [accessed 17 April 2020]

Dai de 戴德, The Book of Rites 禮記, <https://www.shicimingju.com/book/dadailiji/10.html>, [accessed 17 April 2020]

The background features a light beige color with a subtle, fine-lined texture. A large, light gray circle is centered on the page, containing the text. To the left and right of this central circle are several smaller circles, each composed of many concentric gray lines. Two solid dark gray circles are positioned on the left and right sides of the central circle, partially overlapping its edge.

Thank you for listening !