

the multimedia accessible such as using audio descriptions to describe the exhibits as they are currently visual only which would appeal to blind users. This interface was also very limiting from a user perspective as because it is a compilation of photo and video footage, the freedom to move around is limited therefore when you click ~~the~~^{the} mouse it sometimes places you where you do not want to be instead of having the free movability like the previous interface.

✓ 14/20