Moving into Major...

I am going to continue pushing this drawing style and experimenting with clashing patterns and prints within large scale drawings to create large scale prints. I think it would work well to use screen printing and laser cutting within the next stage of this project. I also feel that my illustration style and attention to shape is strong and works well with a loose line. On a whole I see this collection becoming very fun and fresh with a touch of androgyny due to the unisex colour palette and prints.

Weaving:

I am going to first start with some fashion illustrations that encompass the weave style as I feel it could be a really fun element of a collection. I love how the weave chops and changes the original patterns and creates a new design while you can still recognize the original designs.

Colour Palette:

The bright tones that I am using are definitely something I will stick to going forward as well as the bright pastel colours that are still cute but somehow contrast from one another to make it feel exciting.
