Brownies

During my time volunteering with the Brownies, I took on several roles that honed my skills in leadership, communication, and organization. I assisted in planning and leading activities that promoted teamwork and creativity among the girls, helping them earn badges and develop new skills. My ability to communicate effectively was essential in guiding and mentoring the participants, ensuring a supportive and inclusive environment. Additionally, I developed strong organizational skills by coordinating events and managing supplies, all while fostering a sense of community and encouraging the girls' personal growth.
