

FVCE

The mystery of FVCE (pronounced 'face') continues to intrigue and capture people's hearts. Who is this RnB virtuoso? There have been many comparisons and influences taken from RnBs 1990s golden age, through his unique play on melody and soulful vocals, Fvce is quickly becoming a bold new face on the UK's RnB scene.

From his lead single "Soulmate", it's clear why the self-proclaimed introvert, cites influences such as The Weeknd, HER and Khalid, tackling subjects such as mental awareness and peer pressure over old school RnB beats.

Raised in North West London Fvce draws his inspiration from the cosmopolitan melting pot of the city, favouring ethnic instrumentation with heavy 808 bass notes to emphasise his multicultural message.

His first single "Trapped", which has been streamed over 100k times, has quickly gained the attention of the UK's Urban scene, frequently being playlisted on fellow Londoner G Child's Radio 1 Extra RnB Mix show, with his forthcoming second single "Soulmate", on course to eclipse this success.

With a growing fan base and 7k+ of regular organic monthly listeners, the future looks bright for FVCE and his unique message.

FVCE's new video will be available on all video streaming platforms on 10th of April 2020, with an album scheduled for release in November 2020.
